Re: Contracts for "Design for Electrical and Computer Engineers" by and between Ralph Ford and Chris Coulston ("Author") and McGraw-Hill Global Education Holdings, LLC, successor-in-interest to The McGraw-Hill Companies, Inc. ("Publisher") dated September 8, 2004 and April 12, 2006 (collectively, the "Agreement")

Dear Mr. Ford and Mr. Coulston,

This letter agreement and the accompanying Assignment of Rights constitutes the official reversion to the Author of the publishing rights granted or assigned to the Publisher in the Agreement (the "Work"), except with regard to the Reserved Rights (as defined below), without warranty of any kind.

Except with regard to the Reserved Rights (defined below), as of the date of this letter, neither Author nor Publisher will have any further obligation or liability to the other with respect to the Agreement or the Work, except that all the representations, warranties, and indemnities of Author pursuant to the Agreement will remain in full force and effect.

Notwithstanding anything in this letter agreement to the contrary, subject to Publisher's obligation to pay the Author in accordance with the provisions set forth in the Agreement, this reversion is subject to any outstanding sublicenses entered into prior to the date of this letter agreement, which sublicenses will continue in effect and may be renewed by Publisher, and Publisher also retains all rights in connection with the Work under the Agreement to the extent necessary to perform its obligations under any contracts and/or commitments Publisher has entered into prior to the date of this letter agreement ("Pre-Existing Contracts"), the right to fulfill any orders from existing customers for Publisher's products and services placed prior to the date of this letter agreement (including contracts and/or orders to access, use or distribute Publisher's digital products or services including access-restricted websites) and the right to sell off any remaining inventory on hand or in process (collectively, the "Reserved Rights").

Please sign this letter where indicated and return to me. Upon our receipt of the original signed copy of this letter agreement, the original Assignment of Rights will be forwarded to you.

If you have any questions regarding this matter, please let us know.

Accepted and Agreed:
